

Explore the space you are living in - both

INSIDE AND OUT

- and map it out on a large sheet of paper using pencils, marker pens, pastels etc. Look at the

SHAPES AND PATTERNS

of the objects, rooms and architectural features - include the things that are important to you. The stories, the

FACTS AND THE FICTION

The route you take between rooms. The view outside of your window. Your outside space.

Create labels to name or tell the stories of

OBJECTS OR SPACES

around Your Place, as if you were making an archive of your place.

We are

SEEING AND HEARING

more of nature as humans are quieter and softer - how might your space invite even more nature in?

How might you live with nature in Your Place? What can you hear from outside?

SOUNDS OF NATURE

Maybe you could record the sounds on your phone and listen to them inside - do the sounds influence how you design the map of Your Place?

‘Windows should be able to dance...’

Hundertwasser

This artwork is by Friedensreich Hundertwasser, he was a visual artist, architect and environmental campaigner.

Google Hundertwasser to see his fantastical buildings and artwork - be inspired as to how you could bring more nature in to your space and how you could decorate your maps with colour and shapes.

Share your work with us
info@cambridgecandi.org.uk

   #CreativeCare